19 New View Strategies Boot Camps Now Include CPE Credit

[Milwaukee, WI, November 20, 2019] New View Strategies has been approved as a member of the National Registry of CPE Sponsors, and is now able to provide CPE credits with all their in-person Boot Camps covering Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central / Microsoft Dynamics NAV.

Managed by the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA), the National Registry of CPE Sponsors recognizes training program providers that deliver continuing education in accordance with nationally recognized standards. While the Boards of Accountancy requirements can differ some among states, recognition as a CPE sponsor by NASBA means wide acceptability of training credits towards renewing one's CPA license. In addition, many State Boards of Accountancy require CPAs to acquire their CPE credits from members of the National Registry of CPE Sponsors. For students who take a New View Strategies Boot Camp and are not CPAs, receiving CPE credits is a popular way to document training completed and track progress towards their company's professional development plans and one's personal development goals.

"It's a fantastic 'two-birds with one stone' scenario," shared Amanda Mayer, New View Strategies CFO and lead on obtaining the NASBA registration. "As a CPA, I know I'm always looking for more efficient ways to complete my continuing education requirements, and what better way to do that while learning more about Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central and Microsoft Dynamics NAV?" She shared a bit about the approval process as well. "We are thrilled and proud to be recognized by NASBA as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors. The review process is very involved, but having to follow and document how we meet NASBA's standards and best practices has improved our processes and class delivery."

Over the next 12 months, New View Strategies will offer 19 Boot Camps on a variety of topics, including Essentials and Advanced Boot Camps for Controllers, in-depth training for Sales, Manufacturing, and Warehousing teams, and quick-start classes for companies who want to implement and use Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central. While the length of the Boot Camps vary, for many of the Boot Camps students will be eligible to receive 25 credits for attending. For companies with some training budget remaining for 2019, two of New View Strategies' most popular classes, Advanced Account Schedules Boot Camp and Advanced Controller's Boot Camp, will be offered in December in Chicago.

Cindy Hewitt, CFO with Hewitt Docks, Lifts & Pontoon Legs, shared her perspective of the added value receiving CPE credits provides. "I just registered for one of the Advanced Controller's Boot Camp next year and was very pleased to find out that I can receive 25 CPE credits for attending. I was already looking forward to the class as Kerry and Amanda always have a wealth of knowledge to share, but what a great bonus towards tracking my personal development. I believe this is the only opportunity for me and others to gain this kind of in-depth NAV and Business Central training that includes such a significant number of CPE credits. I can't wait for class!"

In addition to the added benefit of providing CPE credits, New View Strategies will hold their Boot Camps in several locations across the country next year, including Chicago, Texas, and Southern California. While the exact locations are to be announced, these additional locations facilitate attendance for those professionals that find it difficult to travel outside their home region. For those companies looking for other topics or a broader range of class times, New View Strategies also has 24 online classes scheduled in the next 12 months, or can provide a custom training class to meet a company's exact needs.
