Kim Dallefeld Joins New View Strategies; Company Doubles in Size Since Summer

[Milwaukee, WI, December 18, 2019] To meet accelerating requests for actionable training on Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central and Dynamics NAV, and an increasing number of specialty consulting projects, New View Strategies is pleased to announce that Kim Dallefeld of Dallefeld Consulting has joined the team. With this addition, New View Strategies has doubled in size in the past 5 months.

“The entire team is excited to begin working with Kim Dallefeld” shared Kerry (Rosvold) Peters, New View Strategies CEO. “Having worked with Kim informally for years through the NAV User Group, I have witnessed her capabilities as a quiet powerhouse again and again. She has the unique ability to observe and diagnose a problem and enact solutions that draw on her experience not only as a trainer and consultant, but as an end user, where she has seen real-world needs and solutions. Bringing her talents to the team at a critical time when we are rapidly growing allows us to serve even more of our customers with someone who has been there and done that.”

With Kim’s varied background, she will lead in-person, online, and custom training on warehousing, supply chain, and sales and service topics. Kim will also support New View Strategies’ existing team on process improvement and advisory projects, as well as lead the development of a continuous improvement program to drive ongoing learning for New View’s clients.

Kim is now the fourth NAVUG All-Star to work at New View Strategies, representing 25% of awardees, along with Kerry (Rosvold) Peters, Amanda Mayer, and 2019 Awardee Kim Congleton. Kim has worked with Microsoft Dynamics NAV since version 1.0, and has worked to apply the software to all business functions as both a user and a partner. She is long-standing leader in the community, a former chair of NAVUG, co-leader of the Dallas and Austin local user groups, and a repeat speaker at multiple User Group Focus and Summit conferences.

With Kim’s relentless pursuit to solve business problems with the “out of the box” functionality of D365 Business Central / Dynamics NAV, she said working with New View Strategies is a natural fit: “I am tremendously happy to work with the amazing team at New View Strategies. We share a deep passion for driving a better return on investment for Business Central / NAV customers, and for giving back to the community.”

Ever mindful of dedicated client service, Kim will continue to support her existing clients and lead her long-time NAV consultancy practice, Dallefeld Consulting, a member of Dynamics Consulting Group.
